Paypal in bounties

Hi there,

With all the bounties appearing these days, I had a thought about using Paypal.

All this money involved means we give money to Paypal and it's not cool to waste money like that.

Can't we put money of some account where we don't loose money giving it to Paypal?

I thought about a regular account at a bank. Here, one of my accounts have no fees and it even generates 1.25% of interests each year.

Woud something similar possible?

Note that I do NOT want to replace Paypal completely as US people need it to avoid bank fees. In this case, the money would then be moved away from Paypal and be transfered on the account that generates interest.
