Beware of Moneybookers! Even though my account was verified, they locked it anyway just because they considered my transactions as suspicious or something.

Now they force me to explain all the transactions, scan my ID documents and to do plenty of other nag procedures - which are completely not worth the time just to unlock my 10 eur balance...

Note that during 3 year period of (not) using my Moneybookers account the total sum of processed money did not exceed 20 Eur. Hell, that's soooo suspicious account!

So at the end Moneybookers kept about 50% of my money that is definitely more than PayPal's 10%...
