OMG everyone, Joerg is a bank consultant...

There are similar online payment systems which are much cheaper and more secure...

Won't happen. It's about trust. Any name you name, I will be dubious to support compared to PayPal and security. If you won't handle PayPal, I won't shop at your store. What I pay PP for security is worth the transaction fees. Wow, if you're all offended by PP charges, then I'll stop buying and donating! ...LOL

@logicalheart

Paypal policy: "If you use your bank or PayPal balance, it is free. Neither you or the recipient will pay any fees."

I've used the PP balance for almost a decade and it's never cost me anything for transactions.

@ Troels

Will certainly try to get the developers paid another way than via Paypal, if possible .

I would consider security a paramount issue; especially these days.
