And what ARE those "default values"?

Everything that can be set to 'never' set that way, anything that can be set to 'default' set that way. And palette don't lock defined colours, checked

My colours come out fine. I haven't modified my main workbench palette in anyway, just using the default OS4.1U.1 colours.

If I select a colour theme in the wordworth settings, then the only thing that renders wrong are the window gadgets that still render blue, when selecting the workbench like theme all renders fine, (except gadgets in unselected windows that are slightly the wrong shade of grey)
