Not everyone likes Mason's icons. To my tired old eyes they are much too faint and hard to interpret.

+ 1 (with all due respect to Mason for his enormous effort)

My gripe about the ASL filerequester is the GUI layout rather than the look.

* The OK, Volumes, Parent and Cancel buttons are in one group yet they have different functions and scope of operation (OK and Cancel control the entire requester, while Volumes and Parent only control the file list).

* OK and Cancel are related mutually exclusive choices yet they are separated from each other in the layout.

* Volumes and Parent are function-wise associated with the file list yet they are placed away from it.

* Create New Drawer, a rather common function, is buried in the menu.
