Let me recall this: You have to check for a successful close since V36 and you have to take measure for the negative case

I perfectly agree with this, so I don't know why you are writing a huge post about this. The bugs I reported have NOTHING to do with 3rd-party programs failing to handle CloseScreen() correctly.

There is no need for a patch

Ah, perhaps you are indirectly railing against my patch. Well, as I already said:

I do NOT wish to debate the pros & cons of my CloseScreen patch in this thread, and kindly ask you to refrain from doing so. This thread is about an OS4 bug. You can create a new thread if you wish to discuss my patch... however I would prefer if you would wait for the "r2" release to be verified for public download, since this fixes a major bug.
