Using my AOrgansier app as a test case (it uses reaction windows and can be iconified) I find that the windows position is remebered after iconification.

Ofcourse WM_ICONIFY is lsightly different to closing.

The event editing subwindow is closed and reopened though and again this seems to remember the window positions with out any resize.

I don't think I'm setting the position of the initial window though, if you don;t set WA_Left etc does it still forget window position after close and reopen for you?
