RA_CloseWindow() is just a macro for IDoMethod(winobj, WM_ICONIFY), that's why they behave in the same way. The macro is defined in the ReAction includes.

Are you sure??

RA_CloseWindow() doesn't put an icon on WB but WM_ICONIFY does. Also, WM_ICONIFY doesn't work at all unless WINDOW_AppPort or something is given. But RA_CloseWindow() always work.
