Thanks

I have not noticed any more/less crashes with update 3 either. I didn't test the side-bar after update 3 though, maybe something changed there..? There seemed to be a number of bugs about problem after update 3 that wasn't there before. Those will just have to related to MUI and I don't how or why I could or should fix that.. ;)

Webkit can't handle out-of-memory and will probably crash if it runs out of memory. Not much we can do about that. Fab did put in some guards in the worst places but it is written for an OS with swap.

Even with swapping it tends to lock up the machine if it swaps too much. I blame USB for those lockups though.
