The menu item is 'Update software...' NOT 'Update software' . Those little ...s have a meaning, which is that it won't actually perform the menu option without further user input.

Actually the ellipsis mean that a requester will appear. I don't think it means nothing will happen (and even if the scan does happen, it's not going to update anything without further input so I don't see a problem with this?)

I agree that it would be better for the scan to be initiated immediately.
