Yes I agree, I think the comment system is really broken on OS4Depot.net, most of the time people comment I do not know they have, because there is no notification.

Also I hate that people report bugs in comments, it kind looks like software is broken after bugs has been fixed.

Also I hate anonymous comments.

And also it be better if there was a Login system so the developers who work on software can edit/delete and manage the comments, plus I want to see notifications when people comment.

Also I hate having to wait for the upload to complete, before i can upload screen shots of that version, way can't I include screen shots when I upload my software.
