TW works better for some and less better for others. For example it can freeze my system when starting. But when it doesnt it works well. I dont remember how it was on my old A1 vs X1000 and as im on jfxs its known to give more problems then on ffs and sfs.

I use mostly owb but many pages gets updated and more heavy. For examle facebook. google+ and google play isnt usable on owb anymore. When i want to use that i go over to TW. But also there is unsure for how long as google started to say im on old webbrowser and support will stop in future.

Stuff changes, OS and its drivers changes, pages changes. Just beacause it once worked well doesnt mean all of it does today.

EDIT: Reading my previous comment it was not good described, sounds like the whole browser felt like ibrowse with no css which is wrong. I was visiting pages like google play and alike back then probably when i wrote it.
