this time not because there is a lot of work to be done on the emulator and boostyV2 lib and I do not count my hours now too on this project and future versions will delight hobbyists emulation. Then I gave myself goals as the numbers of people who have donated (as users of the emulator) and are really not enough to invest so much time to integrate new functions in this emulator. I'm not saying I will not do it but they are not my priorities. thank you to all those who love my work and I thank you very strongly support
